

Table of contents

Foreword	7
 Subjectivity, inner experience, speaking and art
I. Identity and difference in the experience of a work of art trans. by Elżbieta Krajewska-Feryniec	15
II. Expanding subjectivity. Some conceptions of identity in Polish Romantic(ist)culture trans. by Jan Sosnowski	25
III. Inner experience as a form of literary work trans. by Tristan Korecki	43
IV. Invocation to the Polish language in the mother tongue, or the self-consciousness of language trans. by Tristan Korecki	71
 Consciousness, time, speaking and art
V. Consciousness and 'creating the world' in Julian Przyboś's poetry trans. by Tristan Korecki	103
VI. Transcendental position of the subject in the stream-of-consciousness technique trans. by Tristan Korecki	129
VII. Literary art and the structure of consciousness of time trans. by Tristan Korecki	157

Transcendental position of the subject in dialogue and discourse

VIII. Dialogue and intercultural dialogue	179
trans. by Jan Sosnowski
IX. How to understand the Other? Bakhtin and Habermas	193
trans. by Jan Sosnowski
X. Langage as the ability to speak a language – in the light of linguistic, philosophical and literary research	215
trans. by Jan Sosnowski
XI. Liberating ethics from the power of discourse. Towards a new theory of linguistic competence	237
trans. by Jan Sosnowski
Editorial remarks	263